*Required courses may include Studies in Comics and Animation and appropriate coursework with a visual studies/rhetoric component, such as coursework in Film and Media Studies, Rhetoric and Composition, Children's Literature, Critical Theory, and Cultural Studies. One course in theory or cultural studies is recommended for courses in concentration.

Notes:

1. Students without a strong theoretical background will not be competitive in job searches.
2. Because many media studies jobs appear in English departments, students should develop a concentration in literature, composition, or theory.
3. Students are encouraged to take related coursework in animation and visual textualities outside the Department when relevant.
